

EAR TO THE GROUND

“It’s about interactions between human beings and their planet. I want those seeing my chimney trees to be inspired to change the way we’re treating Earth. The trees are about hope.”

—New York City

guerilla artist Daniel Pittman on his “chimney tree” project, in which Pittman and assistants sneak onto rooftops around the city and plant trees in specially designed pots.